

Don't Erase the Bees!

Colony Collapse Disorder is a complex problem with many causes –although that doesn't mean it is unsolvable. In this project, students learn about the delicate balance of ecological systems as they investigate potential causes and consequences of dramatic drops in bee populations.

The project concludes when students design and create mason bee houses to provide a safe home for their new favorite pollinators!

For more project ideas, go to
BlueAppleTeacher.org